To Whom it May Concern:

C.A. Landry Partners and Jasmine Engineering have been team members on various successfully completed educational projects in South Texas.

Jasmine Engineering's approach to success on all projects is their commitment to the team, the owner, architect/engineer and contractor. Jasmine Engineering bring to the team their understanding of the owners needs during the conceptual design phase and continuing thru the reality of the construction phase.

Jasmine Engineering's staff has been professional and knowledgeable of the various trades and elements involved in a new facility and renovation projects. I have always enjoyed working with their staff, they are easily approachable and willing to listen and evaluate different ideas.

I always look forward to working with Jasmine Engineering and your firm will also have a successful project and will also look forward to future projects with Jasmine Engineering.
